At the regular meeting of the Appomattox Woman's Club on Monday evening, R. B. Moore, Traffic and Safety Division, Va. Highway Department, Lynchburg, spoke to the group regarding new road signs.

In his talk, Mr. Moore pointed that "Over the years the American Association of State Highways Officils, Institutue Traffic Engineers, National Committee on Uniform Traffic Laws, and the National learue of Cities have developed and adopted a Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices for Streets and Highways.

A new color code shapes in the various signs will indicate to the traveling motorists, in a lot of cases, a symbolic message rather than word message, for instance, the Pennant Shaped No-Passing Zone. Another new shape is the Pentagonal Sign shape is the Pentagonal School Sign.

The symbolic red circle and slash on the regulatory sign indicates a prohibited condition. A word message educational panel will be placed underneath each symbolic sign until the public recognizes fully what the symbol really means.

Another major change in the Manual is the use of yellow center lines for two and three lane undivided highways. In other words, in two or three land roadways a yellow skipped line indicates passing is permissive. However, you are confronted with on -coming traffic.

We must remember that "A highway is as the user makes it."
